Madrid, Aug. 27.

THE King has ſhewn his Reſentment of the Proceedings of the Duke d' Oſſuna in Andaluſia no otherwiſe, than by declaring that he did not approve the Violence offer'd to the Clergy, and ordering that all the Corn which was taken from them by the Duke's Commiſſaries ſhould be reſtor'd: But what was ſaid in my former, of his Majeſty's removing him from the Office of Captain-General of Andaluſia, and putting the Marquis de Bedmar into his Room, was occaſion'd by the Marquis's taking a Journey to that Province, Letters from Seville adviſe, that the Clergy of Andaluſia are extremely ſatisfied with this Reſolution of the King's: And add, that a Conference had been held in a Cloiſter between the Duke d' Oſſuna, the Marquis de Bay, and the Count d' Aguilar; which had given Occaſion for various Reflections. Admiral Leake being ſail'd from Barcelona to make an Attempt on Sardinia, we look upon that Iſland as loſt; becauſe there are no Troops to make Reſiſtance, and the Inhabitants it may be ſuppos'd will be glad to ſave their Houſes and Effects. We are here in no little Apprehenſion of a Deſcent in the Province of Andaluſia, as not knowing whither the Troops imbark'd on the Britiſh Fleet from the Iſle of Wight may be order'd; and the Inhabitats of that Province ſeem much diſpos'd to a Change, becauſe their Trade to the Weſt Indies is brought to nothing. A Liſt is tranſmitted hither from Barcelona, of the Honours and Offices conferr'd by the Archduke the firſt of this Month when his Bride made her publick Entry into that City: The chief Promotions mention'd in that Liſt, are, 8 Marquiſſes, 5 Counts, 3 Secretaries, 2 Knights of St. Jago, 3 of Calatrava, and 12 other Knights; 4 Councellours of State, viz. the Duke de Monteleone, the Prince of Carriati, the Dukes de Moles and Teleza; 5 Grandees of Spain, viz, the Prince of Avelino, and the ſaid Dukes of Moles and Teleza for themſelves and their Poſterity, and Don Bernardo de Quiros and the Count d'Eſtampa for their own Perſons: Don Ettevan Doria was alſo made General of the Galleys of Turſis, which Squadron now lies at Marſeilles: 9 Gentlemen of the Bed-Chamber, 4 of which are Titulados of Caſtile, among them is Don Juan Antonio Romeo y Anderaz, who was formerly Secretary of Naples, ſerv'd the Marquis das Minas when he came to this City in 1706, and was a Creature of the late Amirante. Two Days ago arriv'd here M. Tenqueu, who was ſent hither by the Duke of Orleans to repreſent in the moſt earneſt Manner the Neceſſity of Storing Magazines in Lerida, not only for ſubſiſting the Troops while in the Field, but alſo while in Winter Quarters; and to proteſt on the Part of his Royal Highneſs, that otherwiſe he will not be anſwerable for the Deſertion of the Soldiers. This Officer diſcharg'd his Commiſſion in ſuch rough unmannerly Terms to the King and his Miniſters, that they blame the Duke extremely for ſending to them ſuch a Perſon who they ſay is fittet for a Madhouſe: They are indeed much diſſatisfied with his Royal Highneſs, for making Uſe on all Occaſions of ſuch Men only who ſuit his own open Humour and plain Temper, without weighing the difficult Circumſtances of Affairs. Our Army continues encamp'd at Agrmunt, well provided with Forrage, and ſeem reſolv'd to venture an Engagment with Count Staremberg, who threatens to attack them; and there is ſome likelihood of a Battle, becauſe the two Armies are but 4 Miles from each other, and the Enemy have 30 Cannon with them and are 30 Battallions and 70 Squadrons ſtrong. The Chevalier d' Hasfeld is at preſent in Valencia, and has ſent only the Regiment of Anjou to reinforce the D. of Orleans: But the Court of France have aſſur'd his Royal Highneſs, that they will ſpeedily order the 10 Battallions which the Duke de Noailles ſent to the Marſhal de Villars, to return to Rouſſillon. This Court are very deſirous to ſee an open War break out between the Emperour and the Pope, promiſing themſelves a ſtrong Diverſion from it, and particularly that the Enemy would be prevented from ſending more Troops from Italy to Catalonia.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Sept. 21.

Venice, Sept. 7. The 11 Cuſtom-houſe Officers, who in the Month of March laſt ſiez'd a Gondola having Goods in it of which the Cuſtoms were attempted to be run by Perſons in the Livery of the Earl of Mancheſter Ambaſſador of the Queen of Great Britain, were Yeſterday brought out of Priſon and put on board the Galley call'd la Fuſta, where they are at preſent chain'd. They were led over the Place of St. Mark, and the chief of thoſe Officers had two Papers faſten'd on him, one at his Breaſt, the other at his Back with an Inſcription importing that they were condemn'd to the Galleys for making an Inſult on the Gondola of the Ambaſſador of Great Britain. The ſame Morning Mr. Cole, his Excellency's Secretary, went to the Iſland of Santo Spirito 2 Leagues from hence, where were deliver'd to him the 29 half pieces of Cloth, which were ſiez'd in the ſaid Gondola by the ſaid Cuſtom-houſe Officers; and Mr. Cole having caus'd them to be carried to his Excellency's Palace, he order'd them to be divided into four Parts, and ſent them to the four chief Hoſpitals of this City. Thus the Difference that was on this Subject between this Republick and the Queen of Great Britain, is finally adjuſted amicably. The Earl of Mancheſter is preparing to ſet out from hence the 9th or 10th of next Month, to return to England.

him, under Convoy of her Majesty's Ships the Windsor and Dunkirk-Prize: On board of the former are the Captains of the Kingstone and Portland Men of War, who are to be brought home Prisoners for not doing their Duty in the Action of Commodore Wager with the Galleons.
